

Diploma in Financial Management

The prestigious Diploma in Financial Management helps you become an independent and efficient financial expert. You will learn how to provide companies with reliable and up-to-date calculations as a foundation for proactive planning, decision-making, and reporting.

Get a strategic perspective on financial administration and support your organisation's profound economic expertise in business analysis, strategic planning, and decision making. Once you have completed the qualification, you will be able to process and report financial information to different target groups in an impressive way. In the future, all departments of your organisations can take advantage of the economic figures in developing their own area.

The Diploma in Financial Management is ideally suited for those who work in more demanding financial services, such as financial managers, controllers and accountants, as well as other persons working in financial administration. The training does not require a job in the field.

Content of the Diploma in Financial Management:

- Measuring, tracking and analysing financial information
- Developing a company's economy based on strategy and financial calculations
- The economic aspect of corporate restructuring and accounting planning
- Clear financial reporting and ways to communicate financial figures

Mandatory course:

- Accounting Analysis and Financial Communication

Optional courses (select two):

- Profitability Accounting and Budgeting
- Financial Statements and Tax Planning
- Advances Financial and investment Calculations
- Consolidated Financial Statements